

- Following Fiat product recall, all FIAT Stilo sold between September 2001 until September 2006 are equipped with a "Protection spring seat kit" (cf. . 1). These units are installed under the lower spring seat of the OE front struts. The objective of these units is to avoid the contact between the strut spring and the tire in the case of failure of the spring seat welding due to the corrosion of the material.

- During the replacement of the OE front shock absorbers by Monroe® shock absorbers, the use of these units is not needed.
